

CRITERIA FOR CREATING A WORLD PEACE ROSE GARDEN

International World Peace Rose Gardens receives many requests to create World Peace Rose Gardens from around the world and has developed the following criteria for consideration by potential host cities:

1. The host city would provide a site that has cultural, historic and/or sacred significance for its people, as well as international importance. There cannot be more than 2 major World Peace Rose Gardens in one state (USA) or country (outside of USA); although there can be many Sister or Affiliated Gardens.
2. The site will have high visibility and be accessible to visitors.
3. The garden will have a marker/sign identifying it as a World Peace Rose Garden.
4. Each World Peace Rose Garden is encouraged to have a theme or dedication.
5. The garden needs to be maintained after its completion. Identified personnel/volunteers would be willing to be trained in advanced rose care technology by "TJ, The Rose Man," Co-Creator of IWPRG.
6. Host city is responsible for identifying supporters and donors to fund the project, if not able to fund the project itself.
7. A liaison would be appointed to work with IWPRG in identifying schools/groups to participate in the youth programs.
